New Cornerstone Rules

Dear Parents,

Last year, our Pupil Voice Groups discussed the generic “Golden Rules” which many schools have adopted over the years and which govern expectations and behaviour. The children and staff felt that at Cornerstone, we should have our own set of rules to help us continue to develop as a happy, safe and successful school.

Children and staff were working together to create the new “Cornerstone Rules”, which are linked to the three school values of Love, Forgiveness and Hope. We are all very pleased with our new rules which are attached to this letter and can be found on display across the school.

The visual display of the three tree branches linked to our school values will help the children’s understanding and recall of our shared expectations from all members of the Cornerstone community. This in turn will help them identify these behaviours in action and consider the right choices to make.

Please feel free to discuss these values with your child at home as well, to continue to strengthen the home school relationship for the benefit of your child.

Yours sincerely,
