

The Tunnel

I couldn't wait to get into the dark and gloomy tunnel. I was excited when I got into the tunnel. My brother started crying. He shouted come back! I didn't but then I felt something crawling all over my hands. It was rats! A few minutes later the rats went off my hand and I could hear an echo. I didn't know how it was so I just took one step at a time because the echoes were getting louder. There were gingerbread men starting at me at the end of the tunnel. I shouted at my brother how there were gingerbread men.

I was excited when I saw the pitch black tunnel. I couldn't wait so I shot in. My legs had cuts on because I couldn't lift my legs up so I had to drag them. The tunnel was tight. I felt something crawl across my hand. It wasn't because it was slimy. It was not a slug because it was big. It was a frog!

What was inside the tunnel? I didn't know because it was pitch black. I carefully entered the tunnel. The ground was candy the walls were cookies and the roof was lolly pops. I loved eating the tunnel. There was a bunny which I loved eating because it was made of chocolate.

I wanted to go in the tunnel. When I entered the tunnel it was pitch black. I smelt something funny. I felt something gooey. It was slimy I had to find something to wash my hands. I felt something crawling on my hand it was a disgusting frog.
