

Moz the Monster

It was a cold December night. Joe was tucked tightly under his covers. Suddenly Joe heard a loud snoring noise! He was scared. He looked around him but there was nothing there. He was shocked!

He looked under the bed. There was something creepy. Is it a snake? Is it a polar bear?

By Harry

Moz the Monster

Joe peeped over the side of the bed. He was shocked by what he saw. Joe thought let's check one more time so he did it. His huge eyes that were as big as a football popped out of his skin. His shiny eyes were staring at its big football eyes. The monster was as huge as a giraffe. His wobbly nose was as peachy as a lemon. His teeth were ginormous as an Elephant. His lips were wrinkly like a frog. His long soft pointy ears were as big as an elephant's ears. His furry belly was as fat as a tiger. His jumbo feet were as big as a dinosaur.

By Willow

Moz the Monster

It was a cold December night. Joe was getting tucked in and he fell asleep. He dropped his book on the bedroom floor. Suddenly he heard a noise and it sounded like a grunting noise. He shook his head and peered around the bed. He thought, what is that? Who is it? He looked around the room once but he was completely alone.

Or was he?

Dun dun dun.....

He nervously reached his shivering hand on the bedroom floor and reached under his bed and saw something under his bed.

Dun dun dun....

His mouth dropped open with fear.

He looked under his bed one more time and saw something. It has navy blue matted fur like a monster. He was shocked. He or she whoever it was had big potato nose it had reminded him of his roast dinner. He saw two huge bulging eyes staring at him and it reminded him of the London eye. He had tiny fangs that stuck out of his mouth. His ear stuck up like bunny rabbit ears. He had glossy chocolate eyes and a rounded huge tummy.

By Megan